MAN SHOT-AN ASTONISHED NEGRO. -W. J. Fatherly, our pressman, who engineers the steam power press all through the quiet hours of the early morning, that the patrons of the Journal of Commerce may digest the news along with their breakfast, is a Deaf Mute, utterly incapable of hearing or uttering the slightest sound. It is customary with him, the Sabbath being his only holiday, to spend it as far in the country as he can conveniently ride.

On Sunday last while on one of his excursions, about four miles from this city, driving down a small road cut through the thicket, he was halted by a rough looking man who was either a negro, or white man blacked. "Dummie" of course could not understand the demands of the unknown individual, but being a man of shrewed wit soon perceived the drift of his remarks and began to whip up his horse; whereupon the negro grasped the bridle and State. By Mr. Harper, a bill to prove for the collection attempted to draw a weapon. But "Dummittee to investigate the affairs of the University, and payment into the Treasury of moneys due by mie" was a little the quickest, and being an excellent shot, immediately lodged a ball in the highwayman's leg. He describes the man's contortions as having been frightful, but can tell nothing more. The negro
